Life is too short not to love what you do and where you do it. Not only do we have a ton of fun solving our client's technology problems, we also outperform everyone else in our industry. These two things are not a coincidence. In fact, our infectious fun and collaborative culture gives us a unique advantage that our competitors only wish they could recreate.

Is this a good opportunity?

The managed Cybersecurity/IT services industry is skyrocketing. Organizations small and large are increasing their technology budgets to meet the necessity of having top-of-the-line cybersecurity support, processes, software, hardware and training in place. Industry experts are predicting this trend rise exponentially as cybercrime becomes more sophisticated, widespread and costly.

However, managing cyber risk is only one aspect of the value we provide. Our main goal is to help our clients use technology to drive profits and increase productivity. As a member of our team, you have a direct and meaningful role in your client's success. Talk about job satisfaction!

Show me the money!

Our generous mixed income structure includes a BASE SALARY and UNCAPPED COMMISSIONS as well as RESIDUAL INCOME for our top producers.

There will be countless people who will regret not answering this job posting. If you think you have what it takes, don't be one of those people. Grab the bull by the horns.

Am I a good fit?

Most who apply are not. We believe in a thorough hiring process that identifies the true superstars that are going to be extremely successful. We only hire the best because that's what our clients expect. Here are some things that are a must if you hope to join our elite ranks:

- Top 1% sales producer or an extreme overachiever with the insatiable need to win and can prove it.
- Must love technology and building business solutions that increase profit and productivity
- Must love to network, get appointments and close sales.
- Must be highly self-motivated
- Must be a great communicator

We look forward to speaking with you.
